

VOTE 2016

Clinton holds a lead among Asian Americans, new survey says

BY EUGENE MASON October 7, 2016 at 5:55 PM EDT

A sign is taped to a brick wall outside a polling station for the Wisconsin presidential primary election in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, United States, April 5, 2016. Photo by Jim Young/Reuters

Democratic nominee Hillary Clinton holds nearly a 4-to-1 lead over Donald Trump among registered Asian-American voters, according to the National Asian American Survey.

The National Asian American Survey found that 55 percent of voters said they were likely to vote for Clinton, compared to 14 percent for Trump.

